Dear lady, in thy sad bereavement -Many fain would sympathise, But a mother's heart can only Feel thy soul's deep agomes, And thy wild dispairing sorrow She blone can realize.

Did no warning spirit whisper To thy soul that fatel morn, When he kiss'd thee and carress'd thee, "Soon he shall be from thee torn, And o're him, thy fond heart's idol, Thou in frantic grief shal't mourn'?

Yet mourn not -thy blessed Saviour Hath recall'd thy darling now, E're a stain of earth could linger -On his fair and sinless brow-And lovelier still thou shult recieve him: O, then in meek submission bowl

Thou hast yet a holy mission To soothe thy noble husband's carea, For his grief is strong and neighty-Man's heart breaks, but woman's bears; And thine anguish will be lessen'd If thy grief another shares,

Think not of thy love'd one lying In the cold grave all alone, But the white robed cherub joining With the hosts around God's throne, Chanting songs of adoration To the Great Eternal One.

Then softly lay him down to slumber. With the green turf on his breast, Where birds may sing and flowerets blossom O're his quiet place of rest-And the Sun's last rays may linger, E're he fades within the west.

And with him who said in mercy-"Let thy little children come Where their angels ever waiteth To recieve my lambs at home," There shalt thou regain thy lost one, Where no death or partings come. CLARA.

> FOR THE NASHVILLE UNION. SPARTA, Jan. 20, 1853.

Mr. Editor:-I read, with more than ordinary pleasure, an article in your columns signed a Bed-Smith, as a suitable candidate for Governor. I agree most cordially with him when he says that the General bears upon him more of the elements ical debater he has no superior, and but few equals. He possesses that rare power of taking of the popular will, and controlling it as he likes. Early last | ing Tennessee redeemed next August. summer he was nominated as the democratic candidate for elector for this district, by the unanimous voice of his party. How he sustained himself is told in tones of thunder, by the votes of Smith, Jackson, and Macon. No man that met him in debate left him unbarmed.

A Haskel, Fite, and Frazier, alike fell in humble plight beneath the stalwart arm of the indomitable Pickett. So long as the democratic party adhere to their glorious principles, so long will the talents of such men as General P. be in demand .-In the nomination of Gen. Pickett democracy has more to hope, and whiggery more to fear, than from any other man.

Since he was eighteen years old, he has been the leader of a gallant little band of five hundred democrats of his native county. Since that time he has guarded the pretorian gates of that little army, upon all occasions battling manfully against fearful odds for the glorious principles of democracy.

We have seen him when but a boy, grappling with the most giant-like intellects of the enemy, and upon all occasions coming off more than conqueror. With him for our standard bearer, the dawn of the days of Polk will be seen and felt by every democrat in the State. With him for our standard bearer, triumph will be ours, and Tennessee will be redeemed. No longer will she be subjected to the odium of standing side by side with the blue-light, federal, abolition States of Vermont and

As an evidence of his power, he has stood up in the strong hold of the enemy, as the unmasked enemy of whiggery against the influence of a Campbell, and I hazard nothing in saying, that he enjoys a higher degree of personal popularity, than any man where he is personally known, be he whig or democrat. When you give us Pickett for our leader, you give us victory. Vox Popula,

FROM THE RIO GRANDE.—A correspondent of the Nueces Valley, writing from Brownsville on the 23d ult., says that intelligence has been received from Monterey that the revolution had been proclaimed at that place, and rumor has it that Carvajal is there, although one of his officers must be near the frontier, as news has been received that Col. Montero, of the regular Mexican army, had been captured by him. He also says that the National Guards, who so nobly met the regulars in the streets | and other valuable works. of Matamoras, had been completely unsuccessful, for, on the 20th, Col. Basave arrived at Matamoras with the remains of his badly cut up forces, acknowledging that he had been beaten. When Cardenas was arrested at Tula, Canales succeeded in making his escape, leaving in the hands of his pursuers his hat, sash, sword, cane, &c. What became of him was not known, but it was reported that some rancheros had murdered him. This was not believed. The correspondent of the Valley adds:

On the 19th, Avalos enlightened the world by publishing a couple of proclamations, one addresse to his troops, and the other to the people of Matamoras. The first speaks of valor, constancy, fidelity, and obedience; the second tells the "dear people" that their good is all he desires, and nothing for himself. The good kind-hearted philosophy. The good, kind-hearted, philanthropic soul! They have caused no effect, for they all know to what kind of music he dances.

away coal and rubbish, immediately under the front steps and box office. The coal becoming ignited, made a tremendons smoke, so that the firemen thought the whole building was on fire, and commenced playing water into the interior of the Theatre, where there was no fire at all, injuring the scenery, seats, and in fact the whole inside, perfectly drenching everything. The engineer of Fire Company No. 2, discovering the right place knocked a hole through the steps and extinguished the fire in a few moments, which could have been done when the alarm was first given, with five buckets of water. The cause of the fire is unknown, and there are many rumors affoat as to it being done designedly, while others think it resulted from carelessness or accident.

Messrs. Charles & Ash, the managers of the Theatre, who are now absent, will sustain a loss, of some $800 to $1,000, which loss is mostly owing to the recklessness of those who went there to save their property, but damaged much of it so that it is now worthless. The boys acted very shamefully in throwing brickbats through the windows, breaking nearly every pane of glass in the whole front, besides endangering the lives of those who were inside. Messrs. C. & A. had no insurance on their effects.-Memphis Whig.

It is reported that the Hon. R. F. Stockton contemplates resigning his seat in the Senate.

TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 25, 1853.

STATE AND COUNTY CONVENTIONS. It has been suggested by some of our democratic cotemporaries that the State Central Committee at Nashville should designate a suitable time and place for holding the next Democratic State Convention. In conversations with leading democrats from different portions of the State we find this suggestion warmly approved of, and we have no doubt it will meet with the general approbation of the party. We presume the committee will, at an early day, act upon the suggestion. The general opinion seems to be that the convention should not be held until some time in April. For one, we think the middle or the latter part of that month sufficiently early. A more general attendance would be ensured by calling the convention in the middle of April or the first of May than at an earlier period. In February and March, in all probability, a large number of our democratic friends will be absent from the State. while at the same time the roads will be in a worse condition and the weather more disagreeable than in the latter part of April. For these, and other rea- iy. Much of the valuable furniture was ruined by sons that might be adduced, we think the committee, should it conclude to act upon the above suggestion, would do well to designate sometime not earlier than the middle of April for the meeting of

We hope our friends in the different counties will pardon us for again urging upon them the paramount necessity of holding conventions for the purpose of nominating candidates for the General Assembly. If we fail to do this, we can have no well founded hopes of success. A multiplicity of candidates lost us the State in 1851. Let us not be wrecked upon that rock again in 1853. We repeat what we said in a former article, that the strongest men should be put upon the ticket for both branches of the Legislature in every doubtful county. It may be difficult, in some cases, to do this. We trust, however, that it will be insisted upon by the party wherever the chances of success are at all questionable. We beg our leading men to remember that they owe something to their party as well as to themselves, and that if they expect to make any personal sacrifices for its good, now is the time. We hope no man ford Democrat, recommending Gen. Pickett, of will feel at liberty to decline a post in the present canvass, if called upon by his fellow-citizens in convention. We hope, too, that each convention will regard it as a paramount duty to make its selections of success than any man in our ranks. As a polit- with a view to success. With our ablest men in the field, especially in doubtful counties and districts, we may justly entertain strong hopes of see-the convention.

The following sensible remarks on this subject

we find in the Camden Democrat : We are sorry to see a disposition to run a candidate without the impress of the whole democracy of the State. All attempts of the kind must result in more or less disaffection and bad results. The democracy must harmonise if they desire success. It has been one of the leading features of the party to abide a convention, all other modes heretofore adopted and practiced upon have proved destructive and ruinous. And now shall we abandon that which, to us, has been successful! We can only look over our Congressional districts, and the districts for our Senators and Representatives formed at the last session of our General Assembly, by the whigs, and mourn over our condition, which is, in all probability, to last for ten years, and probably twenty. This was all done for the want of harmony. Our enemies literally cut us up, where we could, if we had been united, have gained a signal and brilliant victory. We were routed and defeated by divisions in our own ranks We are in hopes the democracy of Tennessee will not again commit so fatal an error, but on the contrary let us unite in conventions, each district stand in his post, and we can regain what we have imprudently lost by a division of our

A correspondent of the American suggests Judge W. C. DUNLAP as the democratic candidate

A correspondent of the Democratic Herald suggests C. M. Campbell, Esq., as a suitable person to represent Maury county in the lower branch of the next Legislature. Mr. Campbell is a young gentleman of talents and deserved popularity.

IMPORTANT DECISION .- The Washington corresondent of the New York Tribune states that the United States Fupreme Court has decided in a pending Telegraph suit, that an art cannot be patented. If this be so-and we see no reason to doubt itthe same principle is now affirmed that the late Judge Woodbury laid down in the great suit between the Morse and House telegraph patentees,-And the opposite doctrine held by Judge Kain in a more recent case between the Morse and Bain interest is disposed of forever.

BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD.—The receipts on this road for the month of December show an increase of $60,000 over the same month in the preceding year-of which $55,000 are on the main stem and $5,000 on the Washington branch. This large excess is caused by the increased amount of coal transported on the road, and affords an evidence of what may be expected from this trade when the contemplated arrangements for its increased transportation are perfected.

NEWS OF THE DAY &C.

The Courier gives the following account of the late fire in Louisville:

LOUISVILLE HOTEL ON FIRE. -- Our citizens were startled about 8 o'clock last evening by the cry of fire, which proceeded from the Louisville Hotel. The fire originated in the room of the house-keeper, which was in the fourth story of the main building, immediately back of the rotunda. The fire spread very rapidly. It burned off the entire roof and most of the third story of the main building. The furniture was either burned or broken by remeval. The first and second stories suffered no damage except from water. The two large wings back of the hotel, as well as the splendid new wing fronting on Sixth street, escaped injury, but their contents were much damaged by removal.

The hotel had just undergone extensive repairs and alterations, and was throughout in the best condition. Mr. Kean has the warmest sympathics The business of the hotel will suffer little interuption. The three wings, which are at least threeourths of the entire house, can be used immediately, and it will require but a few days to place the first and second stories of the main building in proper condition. The building belongs to L. L. Shreve, Esq., and was, we presume, insured. Mr. Kean had an insurance of $5,000 on his furniture and $5,000 on liquors. His loss will exceed it great-

The fire is supposed to be the work of incendiaries. A couple of porters were discharged from the house a few days since and were seen lurking about the upper part of the building last evening before the fire occurred. One of them was arrested

THE MADIAI FAMILY-THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER GONE OUT .- We understand that the President of United States and the Secretary of State, have each written a private letter to the Duke of Tuscany, ap pealing for the liberation of the Madiai family, and permission to them to emigrate to the United States. We have every reason to hope that these letters will have their desired effect, from the high authority from which they emanate, and from the fact that during a year's residence in Tuscany, Mr. Everett became intimately acquainted with the

A GREAT STORM IN ENGLAND .- On Sunday night, December 26, there was a terrible gale in England. which appears to have committed great damage throughout the country. In London no one could walk the streets in safety, on account of falling slates and chimnies. The iron roof of the terminus of the Eastern counties railway, at Shoreditch, was lifted from its foundation. The new Crystal Palace at Sydenham was somewhat damaged. At Nottingham a factory was blown down. At Magdalen College a stack of chimnies fell into the dining room of the president. One of the pinnacles of All Soul's College was blown down.

In some parts of the country persons were killed by chimnies falling through the roofs of houses. At Windsor the large Gasometer of the Royal Gas Company was blown out. It is supposed that the gale was equally severe at sea, and that we shall by the next arrivals have accounts of many shipwrecks.

- Mr. Newell, of Boston, is said to be engaged in perfecting an armor for firemen, by which they may be completely enveloped in flames for several minutes without damage.

DEATH OF MRS. JACKSON IN 1828 .- The sad bereavement in the family of the President elect, reported the other day, brings to recollection a similar painful incident which occurred, with almost equal suddenness, amidst the congratulations that surrounded Gen. Jackson, as President elect in the

Mrs. Jackson was taken suddenly ill about the close of December, on the eve of her preparations for removing to Washington, and in a few days was numbered among the dead.

It was unquestionably the greatest and most lasting shock of the old General's life, eventful as it was with stirring public and private incident. His heart, for all that gave zest to social and domestic ntercourse, was buried with the remains of one who had been for nearly thirty years the pride and joy of the Hermitage. Her tomb he directed to be prepared for his own sepulture, when his earthly career, in the dispensation of Providence, should led; and the injunction was strictly carried out sixteen years afterwards .- New York Times.

SOLID ROCK SLIDE, ON THE N. & C. R. New Orleans, Jan. 15 .- Corron .- In our last semi-weekly report we had occasion to represent the Cotton market as having been very inactive for several days, attributable to the non-receipt of the later European advices expected by the America, and to the firm position maintained by factors generally. It was also shown that the market opened very anguidly on Tuesday, only some 1200 or 1500 bales being sed of in the early part of the day, at about 1/4 cent in favor of buyers, as compared with the rates current at the close of the previous week, when about noon the America's advices came to hand, and immediately gave an impulse to the demand; causing the sales of the day to reach fully 13,-000 bales, and a recovery of the rates to nearly their former

On Wednesday the Baltie's advices, still four days later, were before the public, reporting a heavy, and rather a de-clining market at Liverpool, after the departure of the Ame-This intelligence rather checked the demand in this market, at least in the early part of the day, though during the day a very fair extent of business was transacted, the sales reaching about 10,500 bales, at somewhat easier prices or the lower grades, though with little or no yielding in the

On Thursday the enquiry was renewed with considerable activity, especially for the better grades, and the sales reached about 12,500 bales, the advantage in prices being on he side of the sellers. Yesterday morning the Arabia's advices, from Liverpool to the 1st inst., were before the pu lie, reporting a heavy market at Liverpool, with a decline during the week of I-16d in prices, and sales of 35,000 bales. This intelligence appearing to be less unfavorable than was generally expected, additional confidence was imparted to factors, including them to claim still more full prices, especially for grades ranging from Middling upward, and the operation of purchasers were suspended by their inability to meet the views of the holders. Nevertheless the business reached a very fair extent, being about 12,000 bales, which would make a total for the past three days of 85,000 bales, and for the week 57,000 bales, taken partly for France, Spain, and the Continent, but principally for Great Britain and the North

In respect to prices, we found them yesterday exceeding ly irregular, though generally still more in favor of sellers, ecially for Middling. Good Middling, &c., which are at an half cent higher than at the date of our last report, and this in despite of a reported decline at Liverpool, a slight advance in freights, and a decline in exchanges. The lower grades being more abundant and in less request, have not partaken of the improvement, while the finer descriptions are so scarce and irregular that no reliable quotations can be given for them. The stock now on the market is quite derate, and consists mostly of mixed lists, having a large oportion of the lower grades. Thus it is very difficult to to fill orders for even running lots of the better qualities,

NEW ORLEANS CLASSIFICATION,

(ASSIMILATING TO THAT OF LIVERPOOL.) Tobacco.-We notice in our last report, by way of postscript, sales of some 225 hhds, which took place on Tuesday, and were the first considerable transactions that had taken place in our market for several weeks, as high freights, and the firm position maintained by holders generally, had checked the operations of purchasers. Under these circumstances the exports have been very light for a number of weeks, and a stock has accumulated which greatly exceeds the stock of any former year, at a similar period of the season. It should be borne in mind, however, that a very consider able portion of this stock has already passed into second day, Jan. 24th Parents may find here well-tried and competent Teachers in every department of Education. The yard is now more private and better adapted to Educational purposes than ever before. The extensive and valuable improvements of the past year, we find greatly facilitate all the operations of our Classes, particularly those connected with Music and other ornamental branches. We believe that if parents could be brought to reflect upon the health of their aughters, they would demand, to the exclusion of any single branch of Education, the advantages which may be sesured in our Department of Physical Exercises. We again invite our patrons to visit us, to witness these exercises, and judge for themselves. janz1-3t C. D. ELLIOTT.

C. E. GRENVILLE & CO., General Commission Merchants, Chattanooga, Tenn. WILL pay particular attention to sales of Bacon, Lard and other articles of Western produce. As they have a large and personal acquaintance, and direct correspondence at most of the important towns in Georgia, and part of South Carolina and North Alabama, they will be enabled to dispose readily of the above mentioned articles in season, and respectfully solicit consignments.

AND LABOUR OF AN ASSESSMENT OF THE PARTY OF

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

We have mislaid the American and Gazette. The fact is, that these papers being issued on Sunday and left at the office door, are frequently stolen

The True Whig has an article on "Locofocoism in a Muss." Our neighbor is perfectly satisfied that a storm is brewing in the democratic ranks, and the destruction of that party inevitable. "Time was" when whig papers contained discussions of what 2nd. It is of such durable materials that it must out last they called principles. That time, though is past, and whig editors are now engaged, not in reconstructing their own dismantled fortress, but in burrowing, like males, beneath the foundations of the democratic castle. Let them burrow on. They can't do any harm.

The Binner contains an article in reply to the Washington correspondent of the American. neighbor also hits at the Union. Our neighbor seems to feel hurt at our allusions to his inability to catch votes for Scott. New, the Union is very modest about its influence. It is satisfied with doing its duty and the generous support extended it. It has no boasts to make of its doing this or that, souse that retains its regular custom, while new ones are Our neighbor says that when he finds out where the Union circulates he will be after us. Now, the Banner is bound up Salt River, and can't well leave that Van Deiman's land of whiggery. We are, therefore, indifferent to this menace. Bosides this, the Banner is terrible only in its own estimation. We should like to have our neighbor with us as a curiosity; but the "country's good" requires his rustication, and we have to submit. We should like to know, while the Banner is taunting the Union with not having carried the State, if it really believes that the Banner did carry it. If so, the belief is a self-delusion, worthy of being chronicled. When the Hanner establishes that it carried the State, we are perfectly willing to admit that the Union lost it. One assumption is about as probable as the other.

> WHITAKER'S SOUTHERN MAGAZINE. - We had the pleasure of a call yesterday from Dr. Whitaker, editor and proprietor of this Magazine, published in Columbia, South Carolina. Dr. Whitaker was the former editor of the Southern Quarterly Review. and as such, acquired a decided reputation as a journalist. He is now in our city soliciting subscriptions to his journal, and has taken rooms at the Sewanee House. We would advise those who desire to encourage a Southern journal, to give

PROF. Hanny.-This gentleman is attracting considerable attention among the Scientific portion of the community by his wonderful performance in Animal Magnetism. He lectures every evening at Odd Fellows' Hall. We are assured that an evening cannot be more pleasantly and profitably spent than by attending one of his lectures. See
